Informa Health & Safety Policy Statement

Informa is committed to ensuring the health, safety and welfare of our colleagues, customers and those in the communities in which we conduct our business.

We believe that accidents can be prevented and have put in place a range of measures to support the safety and effectiveness our operations and products. We comply with all relevant health and safety legislation, as a minimum standard.

Meeting our commitments is a business objective and the individual and collective responsibility of all colleagues. To deliver on this, there are five main ways in which we seek to work:

1. Colleagues who work in Informa offices, travel to and attend our events and exhibitions are provided with the knowledge and training to undertake their roles to a high standard of health and safety.

2. We regularly risk assess potential dangers facing colleagues and contractors, whether they are at an office location or travelling to or working at a work or event venue, to ensure there are suitable safeguards in place for their health and safety.

3. We require all contractors who work either directly for Informa or on our behalf, in our facilities and at our events to be competent in health and safety and abide by Informa's requirements and standards. We will, from time to time, check and review our contractors to ensure appropriate standards are maintained.

4. We are all responsible for reporting incidents, accidents, near-misses and unsafe acts or situations through a dedicated notification of Incident tool, so we can measure and monitor health and safety performance and identify trends that will help us focus resources on key risks. This includes incidents affecting colleagues and Informa contractors, customers, and customers' contractors.

5. We continuously seek to improve our performance. We regularly measure compliance against our standards and implement performance objectives to assure customers and those who work with us that we are operating the safest environment possible.

The health and safety performance of each Informa operating division is reviewed by divisional management teams monthly, and Informa's policy and health and safety performance is reviewed every quarter by the Risk Committee and at least every year by the Informa PLC Board.

The Group Health, Safety and Security team provide technical and practical advice on health and safety, supports with training and development and ensures our key risks are being managed effectively.
